HIRAM KELSEY

The editor of the Journal makes a silvy effort to appropriate the sentiments of Washington to his miserable faction. To accomplish this purpore be quotes several letters from that old patriot, in which he objects to the promotion of so many foreigners to high offices in the army; men attached to our cance only by their own selfish interest. " It is not the policy of this government to employ foreigners, when it can well be avoided." It is well known that men from foreign countries-American service at that time, and were filled of Gen. Cass. The South would be relieved from with a notion of their vast Importance. Such all apprehension, if all parties North agreed with men were effousive to Washington, as they would him. have been to any one. Washington thought, too, that foreign emigrants should not make exclusive associations in this country; but should become extension of slavery. After this had been pro-Americans, and not retain their exclusive manners and customs, &c. All this is to prove that Washington was a Know Nothing, we presume. If he was ed foreigners to chice. He would not be oversun by men to suit him, he didn't stop to isquire about the place of his b rth, much less about his religion.

This is not all; Washington approved and signed the naturalization law, requiring only two years residence to entitle a man to the rights of a citi sen. He subsequently approved the act requiring five years residence. There the subject remained until the Federal party extended the term to four-

The liberal policy of Washington was well known; hence, he could afford to rebuke impertinent office seekers, whom he know came here upon a venture, full of conceit of their own importance, with no p trioti purpose. He scorned to pander to such a class of men, as he would now scorn to pander to the low demag guery of Knew-Nothingism. Washing m's character is illustrated by

E. B. Bartie t, President of the National Know-Nothing organ zation, closed the late National Convontion at New York with a short farowell address. Among many silly things uttered for the encouragement of the brothren and his own gratification, is the following statement. If such a conversation occurred, the "leading Democrat" was fully as addic-pated as Bartlett himself. He may be qualified to lead in Bartlett's party, but he can be no leader among Democrate:

Cass is to be denounced for their utterance with the total wards the subject to the same stricture. taen are they, too, subject to the same strictures.

It is no part of the creed of a l'emocrat, as such, eithe ondwoon'e or opposethe extension of glavery. He may lo the one or t'e wher, in the exercise of his rights as r litizen, and not offend against his Democratic fealty. And so the Northern Domociacy agree with Gen. Cass! That is certainly a very grave charge! that they agree with the man who stood by the South in the annexation of Texas, and in resisting the Wilmot Proviso, and in the Kansas-Nebraska bill, and on all other occasions when resistance to anti-slavery aggression was needed. That is very dreadful. There is not a Knowmere soldiers of fortune - were eager to enter the Notning North who can show the national record

That in some States it was an abolition concern: in others it was an anti-Nebraska concern; in the West it was anti-Catholic; and in the South; or Louisiana, it was pro-Catholic bnt everywhere it was an anti-Republican faction. The honorable gentleman then spoke of the Catholics of Kentucky; that he had presided as Circuit Judge for ten years in the Catholic counties of Marion and Washington; that he knew a majority of them to be glerious old Henry Clay Whigs. He knew their honor, he knew their patriotism and political integrity, and ho knew that they were as devoted to the republican institutions of the conntry as any denemination of Christians in the Republic, and as little subject to the influence of their clergy in political affairs as any body of Christians he ever knew. The crator then discussed the merits of the Know-Nothing platforms of June, 1855, and Febrnary, 1856. It was truly a masterly dissertation, ahounding with strong and ergent reasoning and constitutional argumentation. He speke about three hours and he concluded by calling upon the Whigs present to come to the rescue, nnite with the Democracy, and save the Republic.

At the conclusion of Judge Lusk's speech Fount Fox, of Little Britain, appeared upon the stand; he said the Judge reminded him of a gal he once knew, who talked so long and so fast she never could be caught telling different tales—tha he reminded him of another gal he once knew, who loved a fellow, and two other fellows loved her: but one of them she hated, and she married the one sae hated in order to spite the other twe; and that the Judge had joined the Democrats to spite the Know Nothings. sides the object, which commends itself to every heart, the festival is in itself worth more than twice the cost of admission. Too frequently objections are justly made to the manner of impor tuning every visitor to buy this and that until he If you wish to buy, you can enit yourself-if not, you can erjey yourself otherwise, and if you should buy it will not be at two or three times a reasonable price. Everything is conducted with admirable propriety, and, as a matter of course, all enjoy themselves. To-night Schneider's Saxhorn Band, one of the best in the country, will play some most excellent music, and we feel confident that the crowds that flock there will be more than repaid Go by all means.

THEATER-BENEFIT OF GEO. MELLUS .- This is the last night of the season, and the evening set apart for the complimentary benefit tendered to Geo. Mellus by the members of the company. During the extraordinarily long and successful season now about to close, Mr. Meline has managed the theater with a liberality that has made for him many warm friends in this community, and they will see to it that he has a benefit this evering-one not only in name, but in reality. The bill is a good one -the play of "Ingomar" will be given in a style seldom seen. Herr Cline will go through his inimitable evolutions on the tight rope, and the evening concludes with an excellent farce. To the friends of Mr. Mellus we need say nothing; to strangers we can only say they will be well repaid by a visit.

MCZART HALL.-We have seldom seen a more enthusiactic andience than the Juliens had last night. They are rapidly working their way into the estimation of the public, and deservedly too. To-night they perform again, with an entire change of programme. Mr. Hernandez will per form the impalement feat again (by request)-a dangerous one we do not dosire to see again; others may, however. There will be a good house, of

Col. B. F. Dill.-We are sorry to learn that our distinguished cotomporary of the Mcmphi-Appeal, Col. Dill, has been so much indisposed during his stay in our city as to confine him s good portion of his time to his room. Ho left yesterday for Memphis. There is, perhaps, no paper in the South that has been conducted with more fairness and ability, or with more uniform con sistency, than the Memphis Appeal, since Colone Dill's connection with it. The Aypeal has a wide spread circulation, and stands deservedly high as the organ of all good Democrats within the aphere of its influence. Success to the Appeal, and to its high-toned and talented editor, B. F. Dill.

EVERYBORY is going to the Festival in the Mechanice' Institute to-night. This will be the hast chance, and it will be the best, we understand, which has yet been held. Schneider's eax-horn band has kindly volunteered to give the ladies a benefit to-night, and the more apnouncement c this fact ought to be sufficient to draw even still greater crowds than those which have on preceding evenings thronged the hall. These musleians have a wide reputation.

ROBBERT .- An old gentleman by the name of David Rateliffe, formerly of Shelby county, but David Ratchiffe, formerly of Shelby county, but beth would be assigned quarters at Afriend's, at present of Indiana, was robbed on Thursday The counsel then "caved," and agreed to a dismisnight of about $117 at Brown's wagon pard, or Main below Seventh street. The money was taken from the old gentleman's pantaloene pocket, which he had placed under his head for the night. It consisted principally of Indiana and Kentucky money. There were several $20 bills on the State Bank of Indiana, and some $3 in silver.

We learn from Capt. J. C. Adams, of the steamer Jesse Lexier, that the light draught stern wheel steamer Umpire, No. 3, bound from Cincinati for Little Rock, was sunk at Fourche Bar, in Arkansas River, on the 1st inet., eight miles be-low Little Rock. Her stern lies in eight feet water, and the beat is reported a total loss. Her car-go consisted principally of whisky, iron, furniture, &c., for Little Rock. She had recently been dockod and thoroughly repaired here, and is owned by Cap. Jonks Brown and Mr. Penewait, of Arkansas. She was not insured.—Cin. Com. 13.

JULIEN MINSTRELS! ESPECTFULLY ANNOUNCE TO the citizens of Louisville, that they will give CHASTE AND MUSICAL, UNIQUE AND Fashionable Ethiopian Entertainments

At the above Hall, commencing on Saturday Evening, June 14th, 1853. On which occasion they will appear in a variety of their Original Performances, introducing a choice selection of new Songs, filees, and Choruses, new and beautiful Dances, parakling wittleism, bon Mots, Rapartees, laughable Buriesques, Ad.

The Company is composed of TEN BRIGHT STARS of the profession—among whom may be mentioned.

SIG. HERNANDEZ, The gifted Guitaris', whose wonderful execution an autonishing performance on the Guitar must be see and hear 1 to be appreciated. He challenges the work for $1,00 to produce an equal. He will also appear and remning in his funia Ember Exercises.

BILL PARROW The Inicitable and unapproachable delineator of the tenulne Virginia Parate, will appear as "Old Bob Riney," in his areat act, "She Power of Muele," which are won for him laurels of unfading lastre. The rest of the Company will appear each evening, ach in his peculiar Roas of business, in delight and unuse their patrons. In Company may be truly alled the "Model Tr uppor the Vorbi."

Among the performances by Sig. Hernandez, is the Chinese Impalement Feat. This grent feat, as performed by $16. HERNANDEZ, and astemated by no other man, is probably the greatest performance ever witnessed in the world dig. It, at ditteen proces from a board, a "raily fastens Mr. Buckley to it by throwing large steel knives.
